

Food Allergy – The Widening Perspective
Wednesday, 3rd November 2010

Time:	Theme:
09.00	Registration
09.45	Welcome and Introduction to the course Prof Jonathan Brostoff Professor Emeritus of Allergy and Environmental Health Kings College London
09.50	Food Allergy beyond IgE Dr Neil Shah Consultant Paediatric Gastroenterologist Great Ormond Street Hospital
10.20	Recognition of adverse food reactions in general practice Prof Aziz Sheikh Professor of Primary Care Research & Development University of Edinburgh
10.50	Coffee / Tea Break
11.15	Unusual adverse reactions to foods in children Prof Simon Murch Professor of Paediatrics & Child Health University Hospital - Walsgrave
11.45	Food additive allergy and intolerance – fact or fiction? Prof John Warner Professor of Paediatrics St Mary's Hospital/Imperial College London
12.15	Presentations of IgE-mediated food allergy in adults Dr Stephen Till Clinician Scientist Fellow, Honorary Specialist Registrar Imperial College London
12.45	Discussion
13.00	Lunch Break
13.50	Chair: Adam Fox Consultant Paediatric Allergist Guy's & St Thomas' Hospital/King's College London
13.50	Elemental Diet in Chronic Diseases TBC
14.20	Probiotics – do they work? Some facts and myths Prof Glenn Gibson Professor of Food Microbiology and Head of Food Microbial Sciences University of Reading
14.50	Coffee / Tea Break
15.15	New approaches to the management of food allergies Dr Wesley Burks Division Chief, Paediatric Allergy and Immunology Duke University Medical Center, Durham, North Carolina
16.15	Can early intervention prevent food allergy? Prof Gideon Lack Professor of Paediatric Allergy Guy's & St Thomas' Hospital/King's College London
16.45	Closing remarks and discussion
17.00	End of meeting for day